Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with ; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all th public meetings for the county, &c. are held ; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms ; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly ; had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia ; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. February 24

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland ; one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river : located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut ; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season ; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 14 miles from the last mentioned, containing 238 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

SATURDAY, JULY 10, 1819.

At the late entertainment given to the President of the United States, in Tennessee, the toasts touched every point of the compass but two:—but what was most remarkable John Q. Adams, was toasted before every other public man: the toasts were next in succession, thus—Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, De Wit Clinton, but neither Henry Clay nor Crawford were toasted. This putting forward of John Q. Adams is a part of the electioneering schemes of the present times; there are several papers which are laboring constantly to bring him into the public eye; the Boston Patriot and the New England papers generally, stick to the old clanship which wrought such wicked mischief in the gentleman of the elder Adams; this old gentleman is constantly with great art, placing himself before the public in a sort of correspondence, that no one can mistake the object of; we cannot entirely condemn the old man for seeking the aggrandizement of his son, even upon his own principles of hereditary succession; but it is not possible to overlook the grievous and tyrannical policy of the father, or the published principles of the son—compared with their present modesty and moderation. They are determined to puff J. Q. Adams into the presidency, and if puffing can do it, the old man beats all competitors in that art. [Kentucky paper.

THE COMET.

We find, that the Comet, which has been noticed in this city for several evenings past, has been observed also at N. York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore. It may be seen in the North-Western direction, soon after the sun is fairly down, and sets at present between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening. Gentlemen skilled in astronomy will doubtless give us more particular accounts of it, if the weather is such as to enable them to take due observations. Meanwhile we introduce to our readers a translation of a very interesting passage from La Place, on Comets in general, which a friend has pointed out to us: [Nat. Int.

"A Comet may be known from the identity of the Elements of its Orbit with those of a Comet which has appeared before. If the Perihelion distance, the position of the Perihelion and of the Nodes, and the Inclination of the Orbit, are nearly the same, it is very probable that it is the same Comet which had appeared before, and which, after having moved to such a distance as to become invisible, returns to that part of its orbit in the vicinity of the Sun. The periods of Cometary Revolutions being very long, and these bodies having been observed, with care, but about two hundred years, we know with certainty the revolution of one only, viz. the Comet of 1682, which was observed in 1607, and in 1531, and which re-appeared in 1759.—The period of this Comet is about 75 years, and, assuming unity as the mean distance of the Sun from the Earth, the transverse or greater axis of its orbit is about 35.9; and as its Perihelion distance is only 0.58, it retires from the Sun at least 35 times further than the Earth, or three thousand three hundred and sixty million miles, in performing a revolution in its eccentric orbit. Its return to the Perihelion was 13 months longer, between 1531 and 1607, than between 1607 and 1682; and 18 months shorter between 1607 and 1682, than between 1682 and 1759. It is evident, therefore, that Comets are affected in the same manner, but in a much greater degree, by those causes which influence the elliptic movements of the Planets."—La Place, System du Monde.—Vol. I. p. 216.

SCRAPS FOR THOSE WHO CRY, "NO NEWS!"

Law Intelligence.—A man was lately tried as a criminal, in the village of Auburn, and fined five dollars for kissing a woman once.

Theatrical.—Mrs. Barnes, recently performed the part of HAMLET, at the New-York Theatre. She wore the breeches, but for the benefit of her husband.

The President—On entering the Great Dismal Swamp, was received by a deputation of alligators, and politely invited to a public barbacue. He was also addressed on the occasion, after the modern manner, and toasted as usual. The following was among the toasts: Banks, Brokers, and Alligators—"dum vivamus vivamus!"

Invention.—A Londoner has constructed an "Air Jacket," by the aid of which he can walk upright and with perfect ease any distance in the water. The faculty have recommended its use by all persons except Dandies.

"Hard Times."—Nineteen couple were married at Paris, Oneida county, about the 20th instant—so says a Buffaloe paper.

From the Wilkesbarre Herald, July 2.

An unfortunate occurrence took place in the township of Nicholson, on Saturday last. A young man, by the name of ANDREW STEEL, was descending the Tunkhanhannock Creek in a canoe, in pursuit of deer; it being dusk, and objects not clearly discoverable, a neighbor on the shore supposing it a deer, fired upon, and wounded him dangerously, some say mortally.

This is another instance of those evils which arise from the too careless use of fire arms.

EXPEDITION OF THE LAW.

At Coventry Assizes, the week before last, a trial took place which excited a great sensation in that town. Two women, the one a house keeper, and the other dairymaid to a respectable farmer in the neighborhood, went into a linen-draper's shop to purchase some article for the use of the dairy, when, after their departure, the shopman missed a small piece of cotton, about the value of 1os. He immediately followed, and took their basket from them, and they followed him back to the shop. The cotton was found in the basket—they were taken before a magistrate, committed, and the grand jury then sitting, found a true bill against them—they were instantly put on their trial, and one was acquitted, and the other condemned. Thus, in the little space of two hours, did a woman of previously excellent character, commit a robbery, was taken into custody for it, examined, committed, a true bill found, tried, and condemned to suffer death!!! [English paper.

From the Pittsburgh Gazette.

A TEACHER'S ADDRESS.

The following little address was read by a venerable teacher of youth, lately deceased, in this city, to his family and school, on his birth day, January 24, 1819.

"I am this day 67 years old, I have passed through various situations in life, and have generally been able to keep what is commonly called, good company. I have associated with the first characters of my native state, Pensylvania, who were the companions of Washington. At an early period in the revolution, I embarked in the war, which terminated in the independence of these United States. I have had the honor not only of wearing a sword as a soldier, under that great man, but, on a particular occasion, of receiving his entire approbation by a special message. I have generally been esteemed a fortunate man, and as some of you know, have had my share of honor profit and enjoyment: yet I have not been without many severe afflictions: but of all my pleasures and comforts none have been so durable, satisfactory and unalloyed, as those derived from the Bible. In all my pains and disappointments nothing has given my mind so much support as Christian consolation; even now when reflecting on that awful moment which sooner or later we must all experience, when I am, by the common course of nature, on the point of being called into the presence of my Maker; I feel that nothing but confidence in a blessed Mediator and Advocate could enable me to bear up under the terrors of death. Never my dear friends, let these thoughts be wholly absent from your mind. Let no one shake your belief, on these points, by argument, by sneer, or by laughter, or ridicule. I do not—I will not deny that the system to which I profess myself to be a devoted pupil, has its difficulties; but it is the business of a Christian humbly to adore, rather than to call in question the unfathomable depths of Providence. Whether I am mistaken or not is wholly out of the question—I have made up my mind, and am resolved to trust my present and future salvation on Christianity: I find it replete with such excellent doctrines, so powerful in its effects in correcting our conduct, and purifying our hearts, and such an unfailing support, in the various and severe trials of human life, that I am resolved, through divine grace, never to part from it; and I value it, I humbly trust, beyond all the treasures of the earth. That we may be enabled to excercise charity towards all men, let us, with meek dependence on divine aid, endeavor to adopt Joshua's resolution:

"As for me and my house we will serve the Lord."—Josh. 24, 15.

From Poulson's Advertiser.

CHRISTIAN HONESTY.

Mr. Sampson, the apt remarker of our times, thus exemplifies true christian honesty:—

The truly honest man would be just as honest without the law as with it. Guided by the paramount authority of conscience, he neither withholds aught or exacts aught on the plea that civil law is on his side.

The truly honest is he who makes it a cardinal point to do to others as he would be done unto; and who decides with justice when self interest and justice are in opposite scales.

The truly honest man is never ostentatious of his honesty. Ostentation of it is always an ill sign: it looks like putting on a patch to hide a pimple.

But enough of definition. One good example is worth a score of definitions; and the following example all will allow to be a good one. The anecdote is given in St. Pierre's Studies of Nature.

In the last war in Germany, a captain of the cavalry was ordered out on a foraging party. He put himself at the head of his troops, and marched to the quarter assigned him. It was a solitary valley in which hardly any thing but woods could be seen. In the midst stood a little cottage; on perceiving it he went up and knocked at the door—out comes an ancient Hernouten, with a beard silvered by age. "Father, (says the officer) show me a field where I can set my troops a foraging." "Presently," replied the Hernouten.

The good old man walked before, and conducted them out of the valley. After a quarter of an hour's march, they found a fine field of barley:—"there is the very thing we want," says the captain. "Have patience for a few minutes," replied his guide, "and you shall be satisfied." They went on, and at the distance of about a quarter of a league farther they arrived at another field of barley. The troops immediately dismounted, cut down the grain, trussed it up, and remounted. The officer, upon this, says to his conductor, "Father, you have given yourself and us unnecessary trouble—the first field was much better than this." "Very true, sir," replied the good old man, "but it is not mine."

Such an example of honesty, I repeat, is worth a score of definitions. Here we have not an abstract notion of honesty, but we see it as it were embodied. Here we behold the express form and visage of genuine christian honesty, acting on the principle of loving one's neighbor as one's self. And what though the exemplar was an obscure and lowly man, distinguished neither for parts nor learning? In the moral frame of his mind there was a nobleness far superior to eminent natural parts, which belong alike to the best and the worst of human beings.

LETTERS FROM LOUISIANA.

From a gentleman now in that country to his friend in the village of Springfield, Massachusetts.

LETTER III.

My Dear Sir,

The public buildings in the city of New Orleans, with but one or two exceptions, are indeed very poor, and scarcely worth noticing, as you pass them in the street, much less to trouble you with a description of them.—Contrasted with the public buildings in Boston or New-York, they bear no comparison whatever. The Theatre, which was nearly destroyed by fire, a short time since, is again rebuilding with considerable additions, and when finished, will be nearly as large, I should imagine, as the New-York Theatre. It will be a fine, large, spacious building, built entirely with brick. Adjoining to this is the New-Orleans Hall, or as it is more generally called, the "Orleans Ball-Room," which appears but indifferently as you pass it in the street, being built of wood and but two stories high. The inside of it, however, upon the second story, is all in one large, spacious room, about 90 feet long, I should think, and about 40 feet wide, elegantly painted and ornamented; and lighted with about 25 or 30 large beautiful chandeliers, which make every thing appear to great advantage. It is, however, private property, and owned at present by an American gentleman. Here are held what are called the CONDE BALLS, to which any person of decent appearance can be admitted, as at the theatre, by paying his dollar at the door for a ticket. Sometimes on particular occasions, the price is two dollars, which was the case when curiosity that most expensive and troublesome ingredient of our natures, among many others, directed me thither. It was the evening of Washington's birth day—of course, every thing was fitted up in superior style.—I was much delighted with it, and for a few hours thought I was about to "shuffle of this mortal coil," to inhabit a region of fairy land. But however, notwithstanding all its dazzling splendor of elegance and beauty, I left it about ten o'clock, and went home to my lodgings with one of old Solomon's declarations in my mouth, "all is vanity and vexation of spirit." The city contains no other buildings either public or private, worthy of notice. It contains, however, a town house, hospital, one market house, two meeting houses, one convent of nuns, five banks and five printing offices, from each of which is issued a daily paper for the city, and one every other day for the country.

The country around New-Orleans is far from being pleasant. As with the city, you would alike be disgusted with it. Unlike the country around our northern cities—no rich cultivated fields—no variegated scenery—no delightful groves—no cheering landscapes, meet the eye as it wanders anxiously around for something to rest upon. Directly below the city, and immediately along upon the bank of the river, for about 8 or 10 miles, are a few plantations, which however, appear tolerably well, but every where else the land is low, wet and swampy and of course, but very little cultivated. Wherever I have been my dear H———, I have never seen a place surrounded with such a gloomy, sickly prospect.

Continuing my description of New-Orleans, I now come to that part of the subject which I know will be disagreeable to you, because your feelings and imagination must necessarily be excited and disgusted at the relation of so much vice and dissipation—scenes which you are entirely unacquainted with—and which are always painful to the feelings of virtue. Take a man from New-England, which is so emphatically, though rather sarcastically called, by the people of the south, the land of "steady habits," who has been taught from the cradle of his infancy the sacred obligations imposed upon him by the dictates of morality and virtue, around whose heart and memory are twined a thousand fondly recollected scenes of his youth—transport him immediately to the city of New-Orleans, and sit him down amidst the polluted haunts of vice and dissipation, which are not only suffered to exist there, but where they are in fact countenanced and tolerated by those whose duty it should be to suppress them—and what must be his sensations? he would of course be completely "knocked on the head with astonishment." Incredible as it may appear to you, I was told by a gentleman who has resided there several years, and whose information and correctness could be relied upon, that there are no less than three hundred gambling houses in the city, which are not kept private at all, but are as open and public as noon-day, to every body who chooses to visit them. And what renders the fact more outrageously disgraceful than any thing else, these same gambling houses are licensed by the corporation of the city, to whom they pay an aggregate tax of about 50,000 dollars annually—here you will see crowds of people, piles of money, faro banks, wheels of fortune, roulettes, and every species of gambling going on every day in the week. What would some of the good people of your village think, who are ready to cry out against a man if he is seen walking the streets on Sunday, were they to see that sacred day thus unhallowedly outraged and abused. And yet in New-Orleans it is thought nothing of—viewed by most people merely as a matter of course. The demoralizing consequences resulting from such a practice, sanctioned and encouraged as it is by the corporation of the city, you can very well appreciate.

Cold and wretched indeed must the heart of that man be, who can behold with indifference, virtue, religion, morality, society, and every thing else calculated to exalt the nature and dignity of man, thus publicly trampled upon and abused.—Those gambling houses are frequented more or less by all classes of people.—Some go there entirely out of curiosity, while others go to win money, who perhaps lose every cent they have in the world. The consequence is, they become idle and dissipated, which ultimately ruins and destroys them. But I am not now going to give you a moralizing dissertation upon the practice of gambling—my design was simply to represent to you to what extent it is carried and tolerated in New-Orleans.—But I must stop here—my candle is leaving me, and 12 o'clock is too late an hour to light another. Good night my dear H. You will hear from me again in a few days.

YELLOW FEVER IN PHILADELPHIA.

A letter from a correct source, dated Philadelphia, 6th inst. to a merchant in this city, contains the following unwelcome intelligence: [Balt. Patriot.

"You will no doubt have alarms of the Fever being in Philadelphia. A few cases it is true, have occurred at Market street wharf, and out of seven persons attacked four have died! the others have been removed and we are in hopes it will spread no further. Should it unhappily prove otherwise, we shall advise you of it from time to time, if we are permitted to escape ourselves."

Philadelphia, July 7.

Captain Webb, of the ship Warner, arrived yesterday morning in 49 days from Liverpool, has favored us with English papers to the 11th May, an earlier date than those received via N. York. [Union.

The Globe says that private letters from Vienna state that Louis Bonaparte has received permission from the Austrian government to repair to Tœplitz and Egra, in Bohemia, for the purpose of using the waters during the season. He was daily expected in Vienna, where he was to reside in the house of his sister madame Murat. Madame Baceiochi has received permission to proceed with her husband and son from Trieste to Baden, near Vienna. Jerome Bonaparte has taken for her the house of the court Ossolinski.

The marriage of her royal highness Louisa-Charlotte of Naples, Grand-daughter of the duke of Calabria, with the infant of Spain, Don Francis de Paula, brother of king Ferdinand VII was celebrated at Naples on the 15th of May.

Lands for Sale.

BY virtue of a power of attorney from William S. Courts to the subscriber, will be sold at public sale
On WEDNESDAY, the 18th AUGUST, in Port Tobacco, that valuable tract of land whereon John H. Barnes at present resides called lying and being in Charles county, Maryland, containing between three and four hundred acres. ALSO,

Whitland and Cole,

At the same time and place, will be offered for sale the plantation at present in the occupancy of Francis & Samuel Wheeler, lying about one mile from the above place, containing about four hundred acres. As it is presumed that persons wishing to purchase will first view the premises, it is thought unnecessary to give a more particular description thereof. The terms of sale will be as follows: viz. possession given on the first day of January next, at which time one third of the purchase money will be required, the remaining two thirds at one and two years, the purchaser giving bond with approved security with interest.—Upon the payment of the whole purchase money, a sufficient deed will be executed to the purchaser.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pouick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington,
Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria,
Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria,
Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
